Mr. AT-KINSON also favored us with a family ticket of admission to the Fair, good during the three days, for which he will accept our thanks. Licking is one of the best agricultural counties in the State, and the Annual Fairs of its Societies are always worth attending, for they are always allke creditable and profitable, in every way. The Pataskala Fair this year promises to be the best ever held by this Society; and we bespeak for it the favor and consideration to which it shall be entitled.

Agricultural Fair at Circleville. The Fifteenth Annual County and District Fair of Pickaway county, will be held at Circleville, on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, September 12 13, and 14, 1866. Competition will be open to the countles of Pickaway, Fayette, Madison, Franklin, Fairfield, Hocking, and Ross, throughout the entire list, and to the whole State on Stock. We age indebted to O. E. NILES. Secretary, for Complimentaries, as well as for a list of the Awarding Committees, and the Premium List and Regulations, for which he has our thanks. adopted by either a State or National Conthe dignified position of Governor of Ohio, is strong and emphatic. It is intended it shall be so. For when a man occupying the position Governor Cox does, condescends to utter such oft-refuted falsehoods to subserve the interests and behests of party hacks, he must not expect to escape a de-served rebuke. If Governor Cox will only take the trouble to read the resolutions of the Democratic party, adopted a year ago, in this city, in State Convention, even with Vallandigham on the committee on Resolutions, he will find that this doctrine was not only not adopted, but distinctly disavowed. Gov. Cox also stated that the resolutions of 1798, written by Thos. Jefferson, embody the same doctrine. I undertake to say that in this statement he is mistaken also. true, at the time of the adoption of these resolutions, as well as the Madison resolution of 1799, the Federal party, in the Leg-islatures of the States of Virginia and Ken-tucky, as well as other States, to which they were sent for consideration afterwards, opposed them, and their opposition was mainly based upon the ground that these resolutions contained the doctrine of secession. But the friends of the resolu-tions denied, emphatically, all such interthe respective authors of these immortal protests against Federal usurpation and con-solidation, long since, whenever this Federal slander was renewed, repeatedly de-nied this interpretation. But it seems Gov. Cox. either from ignorance of the history of these resolutions, and the purpose for which they were written by the immortal patriots, Madison and Jefferson, or knowingly lending his position and influence to humbug the ignorant of his flock of fanatical admirers, still repeats this oft-refuted siander upon these resolutions of the Dem-ocratic party, and the illustrious founders of the party, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison. I would advise the Governor, who is yet young, and in a position to entitle him to a reasonable respect even from those who did not assist in placing him in his position, so far above his merits or one of his years, to try in future and not lay himself open to the double charge of du-plicity and falsehood, to subserve the ends

This nomination presages victory in that district, as Mr. Miller is personally highly popular, indeis essential as well in that dis rict as the Eighth, and Shellabarger, the present dis-union Radical member of the Rump Congress, may as well save the extra four and dollars the Rumps filched each from the public treasury, as his ill-gotten money drawn from the sweat of the toiling, tax-paying masses, will avail him little when the disunion schemes, unconstitutional acts, and profligate expenditures of the public moneys by the Rump Congress are shown up to his constituents. A determined and vigorous fight on the part of all the friends of President Johnson's recon-struction policy, will lay Mr. Shellabarger on the shelf forever—where he should be. —Mansfield Shield and Banner, 22d.

There was last evening a happy combination of novelty and humor. Some of the songs and ballads, especially those of the soft and plaintive kind, were sung with exquisite taste and skill. Nor were the comic ones less ably rendered, as was testified by the general plaudits of the audience.

The bonmots and repartees were generally brief, witty and original. The burlesques were well done, and created oceans of fun. Some of them, as the Giraffe Dance, the French Dancing Master, Arlington's Great Stump Speech, the Old Clothes' Dealer, etc., kept the audience in continu-
